CONSTITUTION
OF THE
LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA

AS AMENDED TO THE END OF 1958

ARTICLE I. NAME AND OBJECT

1. This Society shall be known as the LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA.
2. Its object shall be the advancement of the scientific study of language.

ARTICLE II. MEMBERS

1. There shall be six classes of members: regular members, student members, life members, benefactors (all the foregoing to be known as active members), honorary members, and subscribing members.

2. Any person may become a regular member by vote of the Executive Committee and payment of dues for the year in which his membership is to begin.

3. On or before December 31 of each year, each regular member shall pay to the Treasurer an annual fee as dues, in an amount fixed by vote of the Society on recommendation of the Executive Committee. If a member does not pay his dues within the time prescribed, he shall forfeit the rights of membership (as hereafter specified) while his default continues; but these rights shall be restored to him on the payment of all arrears. A member in default for two years shall be dropped from membership. A member may pay his dues in advance for one or more years, and such dues shall not be affected by any change in the amount of dues voted by the Society after the date on which they were paid.

4. Any undergraduate or graduate student regularly enrolled as a candidate for a degree in a North American college or university may become a student member by vote of the Executive Committee and payment of dues for the year in which his membership is to begin.

5. On or before December 31 of each year, each student member shall pay to the Treasurer an annual fee as dues, in an amount fixed by vote of the Society on recommendation of the Executive Committee, this amount in any case to be less than the dues required of regular members in the same year. Except for the amount of dues, all the provisions of Section 3 shall apply also to student members. In the year after that in which a student member ceases to be a regularly enrolled student in a college or university, he shall become a regular member and shall be liable for the higher dues.

6. Any regular member who has retired for age from the active exercise of his profession may, by vote of the Society on recommendation of the Executive Committee, be relieved from the further payment of dues, without losing any of the rights of regular membership.

7. Any regular member may become a life member by payment at one time, in addition to the dues for the current year, of a sum equivalent to twenty times the dues then in force, less half the amount already paid by him in annual dues.

8. Any regular member or life member may become a benefactor by payment at one time of a sum not less than fifty times the dues then in force.

9. Any foreign scholar of distinction in linguistic studies, not resident in North America, may be elected an honorary member, on recommendation of the Executive Committee, by a vote of five-sixths of the members present at the annual business session of the Society. The total number of honorary members shall not exceed twenty-five; and not more than three may be elected in any one year.

10. Any library, institution, or business firm may become a subscribing member by payment of dues for the year in which its membership is to begin. Subscribing members shall pay annual dues in the same amount as regular members.

11. The rights of membership are as follows. All members receive gratis the regular publications of the Society, comprising the journal LANGUAGE and its Supplements (Language Monographs, Language Dissertations, and Bulletins of the Executive Committee). All members are entitled to a discount from the list price of the Society's special publications, and from the price of regular publications in purchasing back numbers and additional copies, the size of the discount to be determined from time to time by the Treasurer. All members except subscribing members may submit articles, reviews, and longer works to the Committee on Publications, to be considered as possible contributions to the journal, the series of Language Monographs or Language Dissertations, or the series of special publications. All members except subscribing members may offer to the Executive Committee papers for oral presentation at meetings of the Society. Regular members, life members, and benefactors may participate in the annual business meetings of the Society, may vote in the Society's elections, and may hold offices in the Society. Benefactors have the privilege of naming as their beneficiary a library which without further payment of dues shall be in perpetuity a subscribing member of the Society.

12. The enjoyment of these rights is contingent upon the payment of annual dues as provided in Sections 3, 5, and 10, except that this requirement is waived for honorary members, benefactors, life members, regular members relieved from the further payment of dues in accordance with the provisions of Section 6, and subscribing members named as beneficiaries in accordance with the provisions of Section 11.

13. The sums received by the Treasurer as fees of life members and benefactors shall be set aside as endowment, and shall be invested in interest-bearing securities, only the income thereof to be used for current expenses, including those of publication. The trustees of the endowment fund shall be the Treasurer and two other members of the Society appointed by the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE III. ADMINISTRATION

1. The Officers shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer.

2. There shall be an Executive Committee, composed of the above Officers and six other members of the Society, who shall serve for three years, two of them being elected each year, and who shall be ineligible for immediate re-election.

tion. Between annual meetings of the Society the Executive Committee shall have power to take any action that the Society itself could take; but all its acts must be reported to the Society at the next annual meeting. The Secretary may on his own initiative, and shall at the request of any other member of the Committee, ask the Executive Committee to vote upon specific questions by mail, and if a majority of the Committee shall vote by mail for or against any measure thus submitted that vote shall be decisive. All former officers and all persons who have been members of the Executive Committee within the last preceding five years shall have the right to attend meetings of the Executive Committee, but they shall not have the right to vote. If any member of the Executive Committee does not attend a meeting of the Committee, he may, by written proxy, appoint a member of the Society to attend and to vote in his stead. But no one person shall by virtue of holding proxies have the right to cast more than one vote.

3. There shall be a Committee on Publications, which shall consist of the Editor (who shall act as chairman) and three other members of the Society. One member of the Committee on Publications shall be elected at each annual meeting of the Society, and he shall serve for three years.

4. There shall be a Nominating Committee consisting of three members, who shall serve for three years, one of them being elected each year. The member whose term is about to expire shall act as chairman.

5. The Officers and the Editor shall be elected annually. All elections shall be conducted as follows: The Nominating Committee shall nominate one person for each position to be filled at the annual election, and the Secretary shall, at least two months before the annual meeting, mail to the membership notices of these nominations. At the same time he shall mail to the membership nomination blanks, with space for one nomination for each position to be filled. Any member may write the name of a member of the Society in each or any of these spaces, and mail the blank with his signature to the Secretary. If, in this way, as many as three nominate the same candidate for the same position, such candidate shall have equal standing with the one nominated by the Nominating Committee, but the names of the members who nominated him shall not be published by the Secretary. The Secretary shall inquire of each person nominated in either of the two ways just prescribed, whether he will serve if elected. Unless an affirmative reply is received from such a person, his name shall be stricken from the list of nominees. Additional nominations may be made from the floor, provided that each such nomination must be seconded by two members of the Society in order to be valid, and provided that evidence must be presented that such a nominee will serve if elected. If there are two or more nominees for any position, voting for that position shall be by secret ballot.

ARTICLE IV. GROUPS

To meet the needs of scholars with specialized linguistic interests, Groups may be organized, on terms approved by the Executive Committee. The Society shall, through its officers and members, cooperate with the Groups in the furtherance of their aims.

ARTICLE V. MEETINGS

1. There shall be an annual meeting of the Society, at such time and place as shall be determined at a previous meeting, or by the Executive Committee.
2. The Executive Committee shall make all arrangements for the annual meetings.
3. The Executive Committee may call special meetings.
4. Titles and descriptions of papers to be read before the Society must be submitted to the Executive Committee beforehand, and their disposition of such papers, including a possible limitation of the time to be devoted to them, shall be final.

ARTICLE VI. PUBLICATION

1. The Committee on Publications shall have charge of all publications of the Society, and shall have power to order their publication upon certification of the Treasurer that sufficient money is available.
2. Nothing in this Article shall prevent the publication of occasional bulletins by the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE VII. AMENDMENTS

1. Amendments to this Constitution may be made by vote of two-thirds of the members present at any annual meeting of the Society, provided that a proposed amendment has been presented in writing to the Secretary, signed by at least three members of the Society, not less than four months before the meeting.
2. The Secretary shall mail to the membership of the Society, at least one month before the annual meeting, the text of any proposed amendment that has been properly presented in accordance with Section 1 above.

The FIRST SESSION was called to order by the President, Mr. Hoenigswald, at 9 A.M. on Monday, 29 December; about 225 persons were present. Papers 1-6 were read and discussed. The session was adjourned at 11:40 A.M.

The SECOND SESSION was called to order by Mr. Hoenigswald at 2 P.M. About 310 persons were present. Papers 7-13 were read and discussed. The session was adjourned at 5:30 P.M.

The ANNUAL INFORMAL BANQUET for members and their guests was held at 7:30 P.M., with ninety persons present. G. M. Bolling, a Foundation Member of the Society and first editor of LANGUAGE, spoke to the Society of its early days. Mr. Hoenigswald delivered the Presidential Address: Some Uses of Nothing.

The BUSINESS MEETING (THIRD SESSION) was called to order by Mr. Hoenigswald at 9 A.M. on Tuesday, 30 December. About 60 persons were present. The minutes of the preceding meeting were called for. The Secretary reported that the minutes of the Thirty-Second Annual Meeting, held in Chicago on 27-29 December 1957, had appeared in Bulletin 31, and been duly distributed to the membership. The minutes of the Twentieth Summer Meeting, held in Ann Arbor on 25-26 July 1958, would appear in Bulletin 32. It was voted that the reading of these minutes be dispensed with, and that they be accepted.

The Secretary presented the following report, which was ordered to be received and filed:

The corrected active membership was last reported to the Society on 15 December 1957 as 1354. In 1958 there were 200 new members, and 5 reinstatements. 20 were dropped for nonpayment of dues, and 33 resigned: E. Artin, E. L. Bassett, M. E. Bicknell, H. S. Biligiri, G. Bryant, C. Ching-mi, M. Chowdhury, J. W. Conner, J. L. Cutler, M. Dordick, F. H. Douglas, J. Gallagher, H. Galton, E. S. Glenn, B. Jegers, A. Kanayama, R. W. Kocsis, R. Logan, S. P. Muljono, J. Nagasawa, T. C. Petersen, S. E. Richards, A. Schwartz, B. J. Shand, S. L. Silverman, Sister Fides Huber, R. F. Spencer, C. W. Tait, A. A. Toplisky, L. Trimble, H. Umeda, W. G. Van Campen, C. G. Walker.

We record with sorrow the death of five regular members: Robert T. Clark Jr., Nicolas deGelon-Ichenzeff, Eugene A. Gellot, John Phelps, and David M. Robinson. The death of two of these occurred prior to 1958, but was not reported. (One of these was listed with the date of death in the 1957 membership list, and is therefore not included in the 1958 list.)

During 1958 we had, then, a total membership of 1505, of whom 1501 were active on 15 December. The net gain (on the basis of year-end active memberships) was 147 as against 176 for the year preceding.

On 15 December 1957 we had 24 Honorary Members. At the 1957 Meeting one new Honorary Member was elected, as reported in Bulletin 31. During the year the death of four Honorary Members was reported to the Secretary: Albert Debrunner, Karl Jaberg, Kazimierz Nitsch, and Paul Rivet. (One of these was listed with the date of death in the 1957 list of Honorary Members, and is therefore not included in the 1958 list.) On 15 December we had therefore 22 active Honorary Members.

Domestic Library subscriptions were 287, of which 47 were new. There were 8 failures to renew. Foreign Library subscriptions were 404, of which 80 were new. There were 74 failures to renew. Subscribing Libraries in 1958 therefore totalled 691. The net gain is 43.

The total net gain in subscriptions, personal and library, is thus 190, as against a net gain of 243 for 1957.

As Treasurer, Mr. Hill presented the following report:

It was voted to adopt the Treasurer's report and order it filed, subject to completion of the Auditor's report for inclusion in the Bulletin.³

On behalf of the Executive Committee, Mr. Hill presented the following report:

During the year the Executive Committee took the following actions by correspondence:

1. Ratified the proposed amendments to the Constitution of the American Council of Learned Societies.
2. Approved joint sponsorship, together with the American Anthropological Association, of a symposium at the meeting of that organization, on Urbanization and Standard Language.
3. Invited Mr. Haugen to carry the greetings of the Society to the Modern Language Association of America on the occasion of its anniversary meeting. (Mr. Haugen regretfully declined.)
4. Selected the papers for the Thirty-Third Annual Meeting. (The machinery of selection operated with gratifying smoothness, though the number of applications for space on the program was larger than ever before.)

The Executive Committee held its summer meeting in Ann Arbor at the Michigan Union, at 9 P.M. on 24 July. Present were Mr. Hoenigswald presiding, Mr. Hill secretary, Mr. Ferguson, and Mr. Marckwardt. Messrs. Gedney, Paper, and Gumpertz were present as proxies for Messrs. Lounsbury, Weinreich, and Beeler respectively. Miss Hahn, Miss Haas, and

³ We have examined the Schedule of Assets and Liabilities and the Profit and Loss Statement submitted by the Treasurer of the Linguistic Society of America for the period 15 December 1957 to 15 December 1958, and consider, from a check of the entries in the Ledger, that the Schedule and the Statement are correct.

5 March 1959

(signed) ERNEST F. HADEN
E. BAGBY ATWOOD

Mr. Cowan were present by constitutional provision but without vote. Mr. Moulton was present by invitation.

The Committee elected new members, numbers 2695-2829. It authorized reimbursement of the sum of sixty dollars to the Secretary, set the sum allowed for office help at $360 annually, and approved a salary of $1,000 for an assistant to the Editor.

The Committee reconstituted the membership of the Standing Committee on Research, as follows: Mr. Hoiyer to serve through 1958, Mr. Haugen to serve through 1959, and Mr. Winter to serve through 1960.

The Committee heard the report of the Committee on the Place of the Linguistic Institute (Mr. Moulton chairman, Mr. Lane, and Mr. Hoenigswald). After full discussion, it was voted to accept the invitation of the University of Michigan for 1959, and that of the University of Texas for 1960.

The Executive Committee held its regular meeting in New York, at the Park Sheraton Hotel, at 7:30 P.M. on 28 December 1958. Present were Mr. Hoenigswald presiding, Mr. Hill secretary, Messrs. Marckwardt, Beeler, Lounsbury, and Weinreich. Present by constitutional provision but without vote were Messrs. Bloch, Bolling, Cowan, F. Edgerton, Jakobson, Lane, Paper, Twaddell, and Whatmough.

The Committee elected new members, numbers 2830-2898.

The Committee heard and discussed the reports of the Secretary and the Treasurer, and once again considered the possibility of printing the list of members less frequently than every year. Since the Society is still able to meet printing costs, however, no action was taken.

Mr. Hoiyer was re-elected to the Standing Committee on Research, to serve through 1961. Mr. Cowan was re-elected delegate to the American Council of Learned Societies, to serve through 1962. Mr. Barnhart was elected delegate to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and Mr. McQuown was continued as delegate to the Mexican Council for Indigenous Languages.

The Committee recommended Mr. Gehmann for Emeritus Membership, and instructed the Secretary to place Karl Brunner on the Free List. Mr. F. Edgerton was appointed chairman of a committee, with power to co-opt other members, to find a suitable means of honoring Mortimer Graves for his long and devoted service to the Society and to linguistics.

It was recommended that the Constitution of the Society be reprinted in the forthcoming Bulletin, and that it be subsequently reprinted at fairly frequent intervals. It was voted that a student membership could be carried without question for five years, but that at the end of such a period it would be necessary for a member to present certification of his student status by a faculty member in order to renew the privilege of student membership. The possibility that a regular member might be granted the privilege of paying for the membership of a foreign scholar at a reduced rate was discussed at length, and rejected.

The Committee discussed a letter from Mr. Gumperz, calling attention to the possibility of extending subscriptions and memberships to Asian scholars through the generosity of the Asia Foundation. The Committee decided that the Society would be glad of such an opportunity, but lacked proper machinery for nominating scholars to receive this benefit. It proposed that the LSA rely on the Asia Foundation for screening and nomination of suitable candidates.

Mr. Whatmough reported on the possibility of extending an invitation to the Ninth International Congress of Linguists. The Executive Committee voted to favor the invitation, in cooperation with other interested learned societies. The Secretary was instructed to write to the American Council of Learned Societies, advising the Council of the Society's interest in the Congress and its wish to support Mr. Whatmough's request for funds.

Mr. Marckwardt presented for the Committee's approval the following appointments for the 1959 Linguistic Institute: as Collitz Professor, André Martinet of the University of Paris; as Associate Director, H. M. Hoenigswald of the University of Pennsylvania. Both appointments were ratified.

The membership of the Committee on Honorary Members was reconstituted with Mr. Ferguson as chairman, Messrs. Hamp and Pulgram as other members. The President, acting for the Committee, appointed Mr. Lane chairman of the Committee on the Place of the Linguistic Institute in Mr. Moulton's absence, and added Mr. Beeler pro tem. The Committee on the Place of the Linguistic Institute was instructed to report to the Executive Committee at its next summer meeting.

The Committee voted to discontinue the practice of listing papers on the program as read by title only, except in the unforeseen absence of the author.

The place of the next annual meeting was fixed as Chicago. The choice observes our practice of meeting in the Middle West and on the Atlantic Coast in alternate years, but will bring us to the same city as the Modern Language Association for two years in succession.

Acting on the recommendation of the Executive Committee, the Society voted to exempt Mr. Gehmann from further payment of dues. Thereupon it was voted that the report of the Executive Committee be received and filed.

Mr. Bloch, Editor and Chairman of the Committee on Publications, presented the following report, which was ordered to be received and filed:

During the year 1958, the Society issued the following publications:

LANGUAGE, Volume 34; 583 pages.

Language Monograph No. 26: Structural sketch of Rumanian, by Frederick B. Agard; 127 pages.

Bulletin No 31: Proceedings of the Ann Arbor Meeting 1957, Proceedings of the Chicago Meeting 1957, List of Members 1957; 95 pages.

Again my thanks, and the Society's, are due to the devotion and skill of our four proof-readers: Warren Cowgill, Howard B. Garey, Werner Winter, and my secretary Betty Shefts. Every line of our publications—in the journal, in the Bulletin, or in our series of supplementary publications—passes under the sharp eyes of these four. If our publications can boast of containing fewer misprints, mechanical imperfections, and outright howlers than many others, it is because they are so competently, so lovingly proofread.

Volume 34 of the journal contains 26 articles and 73 reviews, a total of 99 pieces. As a matter of casual interest (especially to prospective contributors) I have calculated the average lapse of time between my receipt of the author's manuscript in its final form and my sending it to the printer, approved and fully edited. This lapse turns out to be just under 2.5 months. For the 92 pieces in Volume 33 (1957), the average lapse between receipt and mailing is only 1.8 months. These figures contradict the belief of some readers (including until recently myself), that the process of publication in LANGUAGE is slower than normal; they indicate rather, if I may trust a general impression, that the process in LANGUAGE compares very favorably indeed with that in many other journals in the same field.

On behalf of the Nominating Committee (Mr. Yamagiwa chairman, Miss Hahn, Mr. Haugen) the Secretary presented the following slate:

President: Harry Hoijer, University of California, Los Angeles

Vice-President: William G. Moulton, Cornell University

Secretary-Treasurer: Archibald A. Hill, University of Texas

Executive Committee 1959-1960: William E. Welmers, Hartford Seminary Foundation and William M. Austin, Georgetown University

Editor: Bernard Bloch, Yale University

Committee on Publications 1959-61: Howard B. Garey, Yale University

Nominating Committee 1959-61: Eric P. Hamp, University of Chicago

The Secretary reported that all nominees of the Nominating Committee had signified their willingness to serve, and that there had been one additional nomination by mail ballot, namely of James H. Sledd for member of the Executive Committee to serve through 1960. Nominations from the floor were called for, but there were none. The Secretary was then instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for all nominees except those for the Executive Committee. An election by secret ballot was held for this position; Messrs. Welmers and Sledd were elected.

Mr. Malkiel presented the report of the Committee on Honorary Members (Mr. Malkiel chairman, Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Hamp), recommending S. K. Chatterji (India), Bruno Migliorini (Italy), and Hans Vogt (Norway) for Honorary Membership. He read the following citation:

The recent death of several distinguished foreign linguists who were honorary members of our Society has made it incumbent upon the Committee to nominate three new candidates, the maximum that may be proposed in any one year. Our slate of nominees includes the names of Professors S. K. Chatterji (India), Bruno Migliorini (Italy), and Hans Vogt (Norway).

SUNITI KUMAR CHATTERJI, many years on the faculty and now Emeritus Professor of Comparative Philology at the University of Calcutta, tireless world traveler, recipient of academic honors in Europe, Asia, and America, has been for decades one of the leading figures in linguistic science in South Asia. His early education was at Calcutta; he completed his studies at London (D.Litt. 1921) and at Paris. Professor Chatterji has made outstanding contributions to Indo-Aryan linguistics with both descriptive and historical works. His sketch of the phonology of Bengali and his treatment of the verb system of Bengali are fine pieces of synchronic analysis. In historical linguistics, his monumental Origin and development of the Bengali language (1926), an exceptionally learned compilation full of original interpretations, remains a mine of valuable information. Always keenly interested in the application of linguistic principles to the solution of the pressing language problems of contemporary South Asia, Professor Chatterji has lectured extensively and has written scores of books and important articles in English, Bengali, and Hindi. He has also participated personally in the recent Summer Schools of Linguistics in his native country, and has helped rejuvenate the Linguistic Society of India and its journal Indian linguistics, of which Vol. 16 (1955) was dedicated to him as a testimonial with contributions from leading Orientalists the world over.

BRUNO MIGLIORINI, who is in his sixty-second year, taught Romance linguistics successively in the Universities of Rome (1928-33) and Fribourg (1933-38) before occupying his present chair of the History of Italian Language in the University of Florence. He is Founding President of the new Accademia della Crusca, holds an honorary doctorate from the University of Aix-Marseille, has been invited to deliver formal lectures at Oxford, and has taught as a visiting professor at Columbia University and the University of California in Berkeley. He is the founding editor of the quarterly Lingua nostra and the driving force behind it, one of the most active associate editors of the Archivio glottologico italiano, and one of the few foreign associate editors of the American journal Romance philology. For years he has contributed a chapter, published in English, on Italian, Sardinian, and Raeto-Romance linguistics, to the excellent British Year's work in modern language studies. Migliorini is the author of several influential books, including an introduction to general linguistics (1946), a handy and reliable etymological dictionary of Italian (1950), and a monograph on the transformation of proper into common nouns (1927). His most significant articles, carefully brought up to date, were published last year under the title Saggi linguistici, a solid volume containing also a 17-page bibliography of his writings. Of his magnum opus, a history of the Italian language, more than two thirds have so far appeared.

HANS KAMSTRUP VOGT (University of Oslo) was born in 1903. His early studies in French and Classics were followed by more advanced inquiries into Armenian and Georgian (Paris) and by field work in Georgia (1932-33) and in this country (1937-38). As a result of this many-sided preparation and of his magnificent gifts, Professor Vogt's work is infused with a remarkable grasp of European and American linguistic theory and method as well as of traditional comparative scholarship. He has further engaged in sound philological research into Classical Georgian and into Armenian. His descriptive contributions are most impressively illustrated by his grammar of modern Georgian (1938) and by his work on Kalispel (1936) and comparative Salish (1940). Other descriptive studies from his pen range over Armenian and Caucasian, Norwegian, Burushaski, and Basque. His contributions to phonemic theory (1954, 1957) are characteristically well anchored in solid data. A recent article (1955) criticizing the hypothesis of Basque-Caucasian relationship shows his profound understanding of the nature of genetic relationship, his powers of lucid exposition, and his impeccable control of the data. The total volume of his scholarship is of substantial quantity and of impressively high quality in fields difficult of access. Professor Vogt has been President of Norway's National Council for Scientific Research (1953-57), Secretary General of the Eighth International Congress of Linguistics, and associate editor of our own IJAL.

The recommendations of the Committee on Honorary Members having been earlier approved by the Executive Committee, Mr. Malkiel introduced a motion to elect the three nominees to Honorary Membership. The motion was unanimously carried.

Mr. Marckwardt presented the following report on the Linguistic Institute of 1958:

The Linguistic Institute of 1958 (June 23 to August 15) was sponsored jointly by the Linguistic Society of America and the University of Michigan. The faculty consisted of William M. Austin (Georgetown University), William J. Gedney (State University of New York), Fred W. Householder Jr. (Indiana University), George J. Metcalf (University of Chicago), Thomas A. Sebeok (Indiana University, Associate Director), Paul Thieme (Yale University), Lawrence L. Thomas (University of California), and William E. Welmers (Hartford Seminary Foundation), and the following members of the Michigan staff: Edward M. Anthony, Jarvis R. Bastian, O. L. Chavarria-Aguilar, James W. Downer, Lawrence B. Kiddle, Harold V. King, Hans Kurath, Albert H. Marckwardt, Ernest N. McCarus, Herbert H. Paper (Assistant Director), Gordon E. Peterson, Robert Politzer, Ernst Pulgram, Gerda M. Seligson, Yao Shen, Hide Shohara, and Waldo E. Sweet. Mr. Thieme held the Collitz Professorship.

Thirty-five courses were offered. These included seven basic courses in general linguistics, seven devoted to the structural analysis of particular languages or language groups, four concerned with English, nine in historical and comparative linguistics, three relating linguistics to other disciplines, and five concerned with the practical application of linguistics to language teaching. Not specifically included in the program but closely related to it were two workshops in language teaching and three intensive language courses.

Total enrollment in all courses of the Institute numbered 829. This included 47 undergraduate elections, 543 graduate elections, 160 student visitors, 56 course visitations by Ph.D. guests, and 23 staff visitations. The 590 course elections for credit involved 318 students, 170 of whom were enrolled in two or more Institute courses. This last group of students, with the 21 holders of the doctorate who received guest privileges from the University, may justly be regarded as the real core of the Linguistic Institute. The total of 191 represents approximately a one-third increase over 1957.

The semiweekly Forum lectures had an average attendance of 168. Guest lecturers included Noam Chomsky (Massachusetts Institute of Technology), E. Adelaide Hahn (Hunter College), Henry M. Hoenigswald (University of Pennsylvania), Mary Haas (University of California), and George L. Trager (University of Buffalo). An estimated 250 persons visited the open house at the Acoustics Laboratory.

Thirty-three students in the Institute received summer study aids from the American Council of Learned Societies, financed by a grant from the Ford Foundation. The Rockefeller Foundation made it possible to maintain six members of the English Inspectorate of the Egyptian Ministry of Education at the Institute, three of whom are pursuing advanced studies at the University of Texas and three at Michigan.

The summer meeting of the Linguistic Society, held on 25-26 July, drew a record attendance with 304 registered members and guests. The Collitz Lecture by Mr. Thieme was delivered before an overflow audience in the Rackham Amphitheater.

The Linguistic Institute acknowledges with thanks the action of the Ford Foundation and the American Council of Learned Societies in providing summer study aids. It is important to note as well that foundation aid to the Institute took on a significantly new form with a direct institutional subsidy of $4,500 from the Ford Foundation. (Heretofore all aid had come through student subsidies.) The principle that the Institute merits direct as well as indirect assistance is most important. The Institute is also grateful to the Linguistic Society for its contributions from the Collitz bequest and from the Linguistic Institute Endowment Fund, totalling $3,499.93.

Mr. Cowan, as the Society's delegate to the American Council of Learned Societies, presented the following report of the Council's recent activities.

Your delegate and the Secretary of the Linguistic Society attended the annual meeting of the American Council of Learned Societies on 22-24 January 1958 in Bloomington, Indiana. The program provided for a conference of secretaries of the constituent societies, and a meeting of this group with the Board of Directors; the theme of the meeting was The Present-Day Vitality of the Classical Tradition. Theater performances, an art exhibit, lectures, and a musical program on the campus of Indiana University were attended by the members of the Council and the general public.

During the past year the Council has been involved, directly and indirectly, in many activities which are of interest to the Linguistic Society. Your Secretary is a member of an ACLS committee on the problems of scholarly publication, including the publication of scholarly journals. President Burkhardt has been working with the Library of Congress to assist the implementation of the Dingell Amendment (to the Agricultural Act of 1958), which provides for the use of counterpart foreign currency funds to purchase cultural goods and services abroad. The ACLS has entered into a contractual arrangement with the U. S. Office of Education to supply a report on current needs for trained language personnel in industry, education, and government; Mr. Twaddell has been engaged by the Council to prepare the report. The ACLS Committee on the Secondary Schools held a series of panels on curriculum problems; the report of the foreign language panel is published in the ACLS Newsletter 9:9. The ACLS has also followed the development of plans to establish a Center of Applied Linguistics in Washington with the aid of the Ford Foundation. The Center, operated by the Modern Language Association of America, has quarters in the building of the Conference Board of Associated Research Councils; its first director is Charles Ferguson.

The Council has assured funds in support of the Linguistic Institute for the next five years through a grant of $125,000 from the Ford Foundation.

The Council's Committee on Language Programs currently consists of Martin Joos chairman, Kenneth Mildener secretary, Bernard Bloch, John B. Carroll, Daniel Lee Hamilton, Archibald A. Hill, Norman A. McQuown, William G. Moulton, and Henry Lee Smith Jr.; it continues to act in an advisory capacity, and to select winners of summer study aids in linguistics. The Program in Oriental Languages, directed by this committee with a large grant from the Ford Foundation over the past six years, is drawing to an end. Your delegate is bringing the operation of the program to a close, and will prepare a final report for the Ford Foundation.

The Committee on Language Programs has recently established a subcommittee on Uralic and Altaic Languages. The members are John Lotz chairman, Samuel E. Martin, Nicholas Poppe, Thomas A. Sebeok, and Lewis V. Thomas.

Reports on the Sixth International Congress of Onomastic Sciences, held in Munich on 24-28 August 1958, were presented by the Society's two delegates, Messrs. Senn and Pulgram. Excerpts follow:⁴

The Sixth International Congress of Onomastic Sciences, held in Munich, was attended by over 500 scholars from at least 31 countries. There were about a dozen persons from the United States. The program consisted of seven public lectures and 146 papers presented in discussion groups. Four members of the Linguistic Society (Georgacas, Mutziger, Pulgram, Senn) read papers. A fifth member (Whatmough) delivered one of the public lectures, on Onomastics and Linguistics. The papers and lectures will be published in the proceedings of the congress. The next congress will be held in Florence, Italy, in 1961.

ALFRED SENN

As in all Congresses of this kind, the good was mixed with the bad. But I can safely say that at this particular meeting the good far outweighed the bad, which is all the more remarkable since Onomastics is sometimes the refuge of pseudo scholars and crackpots. The administrators and guiding committees of the Congress obviously used good judgment in the selection and distribution of the papers to be read. Indeed the labor of organizing the Congress was prodigious, and the results were admirable. The nonscholarly activities, such as excursions and receptions, were also efficiently and agreeably handled.

Because of weight restrictions on my luggage I could not bring back with me the program, list of members, and various publications. But I know that it was a truly international congress, with virtually all European countries and many in America, Asia, and Africa copiously represented. The United States was well represented in both quantity and quality of participating scholars, and everyone, I think, gave a good account of himself.

I myself attended all plenary sessions (total attendance at which was, I should estimate, about 400 persons) and such section meetings as interested me and I had time for. The only criticism I have to make is that speakers generally were permitted, and took it to be their obvious scholarly privilege, to exceed by far the time allotted to their papers, which caused unpleasant disruptions of schedule and overlapping of meetings.

ERNST PULGRAM

The proposed Constitutional Amendment was introduced and discussed.⁵ After full discussion it was voted upon, and passed by the necessary two-thirds majority of those present.

The President appointed a Committee on Resolutions, composed of Mr. Sledd as chairman, Mrs. Trager, and Mr. L. C. Thompson. Mr. Whatmough proposed a motion that the incoming President of the Society be empowered to appoint a Committee to report to the Executive Committee on the feasibility of estab-

⁴ The Secretary regrets an inaccuracy in the Proceedings of the Thirty-Second Annual Meeting. The first large-type paragraph in Bulletin 31.19 should read as follows:

Reports were called for from the Society's chief delegates to the Eighth International Congress of Linguists in Oslo (Mr. Jakobson) and the Twenty-Fourth International Congress of Orientalists in Munich (Miss Hahn); but in Mr. Jakobson's absence the reading of these reports was dispensed with in favor of their publication in the journal LANGUAGE.

⁵ The amendment was proposed by A. H. Marckwardt, R. L. Politzer, H. Kurath, and H. H. Paper. It is given here, preceded in parentheses by the section which it is intended to replace:

(There shall be an Executive Committee, composed of the above officers and four other members of the Society, who shall serve for two years, two of them being elected each year, and who shall be ineligible for immediate re-election.) There shall be an Executive Committee, composed of the above officers and six other members of the Society, who shall serve for three years, two of them being elected each year, and who shall be ineligible for immediate re-election.

The full Constitution, as amended, is printed at the head of this Bulletin.

lishing a publication devoted to linguistic abstracts. The motion was carried, and the session was adjourned at 10:20 A.M.

The FOURTH SESSION was called to order at 10:30 A.M. About 200 persons were present. Papers 14-18 were read and discussed. The session was adjourned at 12:30 P.M.

The FIFTH SESSION was called to order at 2 P.M., with Mr. Bloch presiding. About 180 persons were present. Papers 19-25 were read and discussed. The session was adjourned at 5 P.M.

The SIXTH SESSION was called to order by the President at 7:30 P.M. About 70 persons were present. Papers 26-29 were read and discussed. The session was adjourned at 9:30 P.M.

The SEVENTH SESSION was called to order at 9 A.M. on Wednesday, 31 December. About fifty persons were present. Papers 30-33 were read and discussed. Before the end of the session, Mr. Sledd, on behalf of the Committee on Resolutions, presented the following resolution:

1. That the Society express its gratification at the presence of its distinguished member, George Melville Bolling;
2. That the Society express its equal gratification at the presence, despite illness, of another distinguished member, E. Adelaide Hahn;
3. That the Society extend its thanks to the management of the Park Sheraton Hotel, to the local committee on arrangements (Mr. Most, the committee's tireless chairman, Mr. Fowkes, and Mr. Read), and to their courteous and efficient colleagues, whose hospitality has given the Society little to bear with but much to enjoy.

The resolution was unanimously adopted, and the meeting adjourned at 11:20 A.M.
